JEWISH HISTORY | WORLD WAR II

"Benjamin Ginsberg's intriguing new book . . . offers a provocative new answer to an old question. In seeking to explain why the Jews failed to resist the Nazis during World War II, he declares that they not only resisted, but also helped bring about the Nazis' defeat. . . . Readers will be especially impressed to learn about little-known Jewish contributions to the Soviet cause, including their role in inventing the T-34 tank, the La-5 aircraft, and the Katyusha rocket. . . . [R]eaders. . . are sure to be stimulated by his engaging and provocative book." —Forward

"Ginsberg takes a broad look at Jews who countered Nazism through military force and sabotage, scientific and engineering discoveries, intelligence work, and political organizing. He devotes almost as much attention to little-known figures like Mikhail Gourevich, designer of the MiG fighter, as he does to the Warsaw Ghetto revolt. Ginsberg's most interesting chapter reveals how Jewish financiers and other leaders, such as James Warburg, joined forced with WASP leaders like Dean Acheson who favored America declaring war against Nazi Germany."
—Publishers Weekly

"[T]hrough the lens of Benjamin Ginsberg, a second generation survivor and political science professor, the truth (which is more about brains and gumption than brawn and gore) is better than the fiction. . . . Ginsberg gives an unexpected and thrilling history of key, Jewish contributions to the Allied defeat of Nazi Germany."
—St. Louis Jewish Light

"The apparent lack of Jewish resistance to the Holocaust has long been troubling. . . . Ginsberg proposes a new way of understanding what actually happened: Jews did resist, not so much in the impossible environs of Nazi-occupied Europe but from elsewhere. Jews took leading roles in Britain's codebreaking program and America's nuclear project, eagerly served in the U.S. and Soviet military, and designed some of Russia's best weapons, including the T-34 tank. . . . [H]is thesis brings fresh eyes to an old subject."
—Express Milwaukee

BENJAMIN GINSBERG is David Bernstein Professor of Political Science and Chair of the Center for Advanced Governmental Studies at Johns Hopkins University.

ROWMAN & LITTLEFIELD
800-462-6420 • www.rowman.com

Cover image: Jewish partisans in the Rudniki forest, near Vilna, between 1942 and 1944. Courtesy of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum.

ISBN 978-1-4422-5274-5
90000
9 781442 252745

Cover design by Maria Kauffman